THE ROSE IN WINTER.—BY MISS H. F. GOULD.

O, why do I hold thee, my fair, only rose.
My bright little treasure—so dear ;
And love thee a thousand times better than those,
In thousands, that lately were here ?

Because, like a friend, when the many depart,
As fortune's cold storms gather round,
Till all from without chills the desolate heart,
My sweet winter flower thou art found !

Because, that for me thou hast budded and blown,
I look with such fondness on thee—
That, while I've no other, I call thee my own,
And feel, thou art living for me.

I know thee. I've studied thy delicate form,
Till reared from the root till the flower
That opens to-day, in a season of storm,
To brighten so dreay an hour.

How could I so lavishly scatter my sight
On those, that the gay summer-sun
Had nursed with his beams, when I find such delight,
From having and loving but one ?

And while thou dost modestly blush at the praise,
That thus I in secret bestow,
It heightens thy beauty, and only can raise
The strain, high and higher to flow.

Although thou must droop, as our dearest ones will,
I'll tenderly watch thy decline—
And, in thy sad moments, I'll cherish thee still,
Because thou hast cheered me in mine.

Then, hal'owed like dust of a friend in the tomb,
I'll lay thy pale leaves safe away,
Where memory often shall give them the bloom
That brightened my dark winter day.

"WILL THE WIZARD"

Is the title of a beautiful sketch of Shakspeare in his boyhood, published in the New England Magazine, and written by Neal. The writer makes the young Bard thus describe the vision of his future greatness to his father :—

"Ay, father—a dream ; a dream of power—a prodigious dream ! I tremble now to give it language.—But I must. I saw palaces and thrones—and mighty men of war—and beautiful women : whole nations of both—mustering at my voice, and crowding to hear me, as I stood alone and apart from all the rest of mankind, playing with a strange unearthly instrument—in shape, like a human heart—which a spirit of grace left with me, one still, starry night, when I saw the skies rolling away forever, with no hand to stay them : the universe asleep, and nobody but God watching over it. I stood upon the mountain-top. The foundations of the earth were opened to me ; and I saw gold there, and gems, like subterranean sunshine. Yea, father ! and I saw the sepulchres of the giants—the bones of many a forgotten empire—the skeleton of lost worlds—the storehouses of the great deep—and the abiding-place of perpetual fire : and I lifted up my voice, and told the creatures of earth what I saw, and they believed me not.—And the winds blew, and the darkness drove by, like a midnight fog—and that generation was no more. Anon, another appeared—another, and yet another—and at last, there were those that understood me. And when I talked of mines, that had broken up—whether by earthquake or fire—by storm or deluge—teem with the sack of empire—strange fuel, and stranger flames—they believed me, though they understood me not.

* * * * *

Have a care, boy ! These are perilous thoughts—they should be smothered, like monsters—stifled in the birth.

Smothered !—stifled ! I would as soon smother a child of my own begetting, as a thought worth preserving. Why should we stifle the princely offspring of our intellectual spirits ? No, father—I know what mankind are—and I know that we must be made of sterner stuff than others to communicate rather than receive impressions. I have thought much of what we call the great of our day—and I have quite another idea of greatness, let me tell you, father. The men I call great are men of rock. Dominion have they—not over the fish of the sea, the fowls of the air, or the beasts of the field—but over the men of all the earth—of all ages and of all countries.

There he goes, again ! there he goes ! with all the heedlessness of a grasshopper—hit or miss !

Trees, father, cast off their encumbering foliage, when they go to war with the winds ; naked, they are invulnerable—so with me. After a few years, I shall betake myself to the war ; and when I do, away with all this pageantry and pomp ! away with all strange hopes, and all strange dreaming ! It was but to-day, that I saw with my eyes open, the whole embodied future sailing before me, century after century, with all their wings outspread. I saw the invisible at work—the mountains growing populous with giant sculpture—the warp and woof of the sky, and all the looms thereof, in full play—and the chips flew, and the threads ran like fire, hither and thither, among the agitated clouds, and I saw great blocks of marble changing their shape, when there was nobody near—and harps, playing in the sky to invisible fingers—what ! father—asleep—then here goes !

And saying this, he darted through the door, and was off, at full speed, for the cottage of Anne Hatheway. How he sped in his prayer, let the chronicles of that day—the day of the haughty Elizabeth—declare. At the age of seventeen, the boy married Anne Hatheway, who was then about twenty-five.

STRANGE DUEL.

Many a duel has originated in the most trifling cause, and many a man has fallen for an unpremeditated word, an unintended insult. But the following duel, fought in the reign of Charles II., is of the most perfectly ridiculous origin of any we ever read or heard of. But if the cause was laughable, the result was not so. We gather the particnlars from Mrs Jameson's "Beauties of the Court of Charles Second."

Sir Harry Bellasys was brave and generous, but of a rash and fiery disposition. One night, after a late revel, he was conversing apart with his dear and sworn friend Tom Porter, groom of the chamber to the king. As they spoke with animation, and rather loud, some one standing by asked if they were quarrelling ?

"Quarrelling !" exclaimed Sir Harry, turning round, "No ?—I would have you to know that I never quarrel but I strike !"

"How !" said Porter, "strike ! I would I could see the man that dare give me a blow !"

Sir Harry, flushed with recent intemperance, and only sensible to the defiance implied in these words, instantly struck him. They drew, but were immediately separated by their friends. Sir Harry having got into his carriage to return home, was followed by Porter, who overtook him in Covent Garden and called upon him to fight—having told one of his friends, that if he waited till the morrow, he knew they would be friends again, and the disgrace of the blow would rest upon him. Swords were drawn a second time, and the parties fought, until Sir Harry, finding himself severely wounded, staggered and had nearly fallen, but sustaining himself by an effort, he desired Porter to fly.—"Tom," said he affectionately, "thou hast hurt me ;" but I will make a shift to stand on my legs till thou mayst withdraw, for I would not have thee troubled for what thou hast done ? He then kissed and embraced him : but Porter, unable to speak, could only shew him that he too was wounded and bleeding. In this state they were carried home. Sir Harry Bellasys died of his wounds within four days after his encounter ; and thus, in consequence of a foolish and drunken outrage, perished a young man of high hopes, generous feeling, and approved gallantry by the hand of the man he most loved, and for whom he would willingly have shed his blood.—*N. GRAND ZOOLOGICAL EXHIBITION

Is now open at No 45 Union, near Hanover street.

This establishment has lately received from Southern exhibitions, and from India, many valuable additions; and it now embraces the most extensive collection of Beasts and Birds in America.

The Hall is enlarged and commodiously fitted up, having extensive Galleries, with seats, elevated so as to preclude all possible danger, and to afford ample room for more than one thousand spectators, to witness the various performances of the Animals.

The Proprietors flatter themselves, that with this extensive arrangement, together with the strict decorum observed in the exhibition, their efforts will not be unavailing.

Hours of exhibition from 10 o'clock in the morning until 9 in the evening. Performances to take place at 11 A. M. half past 3 P. M. and at 7 and 8 in the evening. Time of feeding half past 8.

GRAND PANORAMA OF NEW-YORK,

Just completed by Mr C. WILD, a celebrated artist, being upwards of FORTY FEET in length, and embracing a correct view of the whole City, the beautiful Bay, Rivers, Islands, and the Jersey and Long Island Shores for a great distance, is now open for exhibition in the spacious hall over the Menagerie

A. JONES'S VEGETABLE HAIR OIL, for Restoring Hair on Bald Heads, strengthening and fortifying the Roots against the causes which operate so powerfully in their decay and destruction.

This VEGETABLE OIL possesses very peculiar nourishing properties, which are imparted to the roots of the hair with a very few applications.

It causes the hair to grow on heads that have been entirely bald for years, with astonishing rapidity.

This important discovery, from the Vegetable Kingdom, prevents the hair from falling off with five or six applications—keeps it lively and healthy—frees it from scurf and dondroff—prevents it from turning grey, and when it begins to turn, will restore it to its original beauty and lustre by continuing the use of the Oil.

The fragrance of this Oil is without exception and ladies and gentlemen of the first respectability have used it and approved of it, and prefer it to any other for perfuming, curling and keeping the hair moist and glossy.

The growth of hair on children is much facilitated by the use of this Oil.

It is decidedly superior to any other article in the United States, and the proprietor has put it up in bottles containing a sufficiency to produce an effect of restoring hair on any head, or of satisfying any person of its salutary effects.

This Oil will cause Whiskers to grow in a very short time. It is universally approved of wherever it has been used, and will stand upon its own merits unrivalled.

The Proprietor has numerous testimonials, from Gentlemen and Physicians of high respetability, on the bill around each bottle, with particular directions for using it—also the proprietor's name in his own hand writing.

Sold wholesale by DELANO & WHITNEY, Nos 55 & 56 Chatham street, Boston ; BENJAMIN F. BROWN, No 1 Jeffry Place, Salem ; and at No 88 Barclay street, New York.

THE BOSTON MORNING POST.

THURSDAY, MARCH 5, 1835.

Washington, Saturday, Feb. 28.

The principal business done in the Senate, to-day, was the election of a printer for the next Congress, or rather for the higher branch of it. Thus far, this proceeding, which is generally considered here, of considerable importance, has been hanging between earth and heaven in both Houses. The opposition, believing they had no chance in the Senate after the 4th March, and finding that the House would not act on their resolution, pushed the thing definitively by their organ, Mr Preston, to-day. Some debate took place between Col. Benton and Mr P. on the subject, when the Col. very positively condemned the practice of one House palming an officer on its successor, and gave notice that next session he would move to rescind the election, as being illegal. The opposition, however, were not to be defeated at this late day, and accordingly, they proceeded to the election, when Messrs Gales & Seaton were elected on the 18th ballot, which was as follows—for Gales & Seaton, 27—Blair & Rives, 14—Duff Green, 3—Wm. A. Rhind, 2.

Col. Benton afterwards offered a resolution, directing an inquiry to be made by the Secretary of State into the expense of establishing a national printing office, for the purpose of doing all the printing of the several departments of the Government, and to make report to the next session of Congress.

In the House, almost the whole day has been employed in a debate upon the report of the committee on Foreign Relations, and the resolutions appended, relative to our affairs with France. The debate was almost drawn to a close at 6 o'clock, and there was, and still is, every indication that there will be great unanimity upon the subject, when the question shall be taken. Mr Adams made a very patriotic and commendable speech, to-day, by which he retraced his steps, and came back again to the track from which he deviated a short time ago. He spoke very handsomely of the course of the President in the French business—he said that at one time it was thought General Jackson had acted imprudently, but he believed that the time would arrive when even that opinion would be retracted. I observed, just now, that there would probably be great unanimity on this question, when the vote should be taken—the debate took place in Committee of the Whole, and the committee rose for the purpose of taking a recess, when the Speaker communicated a letter from Mr Ewing, a member of the Indiana Delegation, giving information to the House of the outrageous assault which was committed upon him on Thursday last, by Lieut. Lane, of Indiana, a son of Mr Lane, the member from that State. Mr Ewing did not ask the House to act upon the subject, but merely made the communication, as he says, by way of apology, both to the House and his constituents, for his non-attendance. The letter, however, operated as a firebrand, and at this late day and hour, a furious debate is raging on the subject, notwithstanding all efforts to extinguish it. Mr Hanegan, a colleague of Mr E's, has just offered a resolution for a committee of investigation, which brought up the discussion.

Mr May, another colleague of Mr Ewing, suggested the propriety of laying the whole matter on the table, as it was known that the President had taken the matter into consideration, with a view to the dismissal of Lieut. Lane, and I have reason to think there was a cabinet council held to-day on the subject.

I should have said that before the committee rose upon the French subject, Mr Adams had yielded his 3d resolution, to prepare for war, and the unanimity I spoke of, was upon a resolution, terminating with the assertion, that we will maintain the treaty at all hazards.

The Boston Atlas.—We have sometimes thought that the Atlas was an honorable foe—violent, and grossly unjust at times, but in its most crazy vagaries, we believed that a remnant of better feelings still remained. We have seen it rash, personal, vituperative, factious, and teeming with falsehood—yet we have hoped for its repentance when it appeared before us with a smooth and placid face, and affected to deprecate all these things. But it is incorrigible, and notwithstanding its late backing and filling, has finally returned, like the sow, to its wallowing in the mire. Its charge of "direct, barefaced, palpable violations of truth" against us, is one of those insulting and blackguard accusations, which has stamped it as the most abusive paper in the Union. Good morning, Major.

☞ We shall publish, in a few days, the remarks of Mr Robinson, of Marblehead, in the House of Representatives, upon the passage of the Boyden Malleable Iron Bill to be engrossed.

The French Minister and family arrived in Philadelphia on Friday evening from Washington, and were expected at New York on Monday. They have taken their passage in packet ship Albany, which vessel will sail for Havre on the 8th inst.

Mrs Royall was a formidable competitor for the office of Printer to the Senate, having received upon the 8th ballot four votes—the representative power of two sovereign and independent States.

Edward Everett, the Anti-Masonic and Whig candidate for Governor, was a member of the WASHINGTON BENEVOLENT SOCIETY, during the late war.—Remember this, old democrats.

The Elections of Moderators in Lowell and Gloucester have injured the Whig stock one per centum, at least.

☞ The Worcester County Ox will remain for exhibition in Flagg Alley during this day and evening. He will be slaughtered on Saturday.

Mr L. Le Grand Morse, publisher of the Ontario Messenger, wishes to dispose of that establishment.—Letters addressed to him at Canandaigua, N. Y. will receive immediate attention.

Lieut. Gov. Armstrong has appointed Thursday, the 9th day of April next, to be observed as a day of Fasting, Humiliation, and Prayer, in this Commonwealth.

Commodore Downes has been appointed to the command of the Navy Yard at Charlestown. The orders were received yesterday morning.

To all officers, 10 cents per mile transportation, and one ratio when at sea.

The French in the 16th and 18th Centuries.—Bulwer thus alludes to the peculiar characteristics of the French at different periods, showing them to be the same in all ages:—

"In 1652 the Duc de Beaufort and Duc de Nemours met behind the Hotel de Vendome; the Duc de Beaufort accompanied by the Comte de Barry, the Duc de Nemours by the Duc de Villars. In addition to these noblemen the princes brought each three gentlemen of their suite. They fought five to five, and the Duc de Nemours was killed.

This happened in 1652—now let us turn back to the literary quarrels of last year, and the manner in which they were settled. The Corsaire laughs at the Duchesse de Berri, and the editor of a legitimatist paper calls out the editor of the Corsaire. The editor of the Corsaire is wounded; but, though his hand is disabled, the color of his ink is not altered, and he very fairly says that he will have his joke for his wound. The duchesse is still laughed at as much as before.

"That will not do," says the legitimatist, and he calls out the satirist again; but the latter shakes his head this time, and shows his arm in a sling. "He can't always be fighting." "Ho! ho!" says M. Carrel, the warlike editor of the National, whose semicolons almost look like inverted swords; "does anybody want to fight?"—"We! we!" the National, and the editors of the National, "we will fight as much as you please." A challenge is immediately sent by a gentleman, and a journallist, whose name I forget; but in the mean time, the editors of the liberal papers had had a consultation together, and agreed that if one fought all should fight, and that there should be a pitched battle of five on a side.

Well, what is the difference between the two combats—the journalists five on a side, and the great noblemen five on a side—except that the one were journalists and the others great noblemen? But the journal of to-day answers to the great nobleman of ancient time. We'll take the "National" for the Duc de Beaufort, for instance. The "National" has its three gentlemen attached to it now, as the Duc de Beaufort had his three gentlemen formerly attached to him.

For the Boston Morning Post.

The License Law and the Temperance People.

Mr Greene—Our General Court spend a vast deal of time every year upon the license laws, regulating the vending of the ardent, and of wines. Their legislation leads to quarrels between the thirsty and the non-thirsty portions of the public—to expensive litigations, injurious to all but the lawyers. More than one quarter of all the criminal prosecutions in the State, according to the late report of the Attorney General, are for violations of the license laws. This alone is conclusive proof that the legislation upon the subject thus far has been bad.—It is both illegal and bad. Congress has the sole power, by the U. S. Constitution, to regulate commerce with foreign nations, among the States and with the Indian tribes. Whatever, therefore, Congress allows to be imported or made, any individual has a right to sell; and the State Legislatures have no more right to prohibit, or license, the sale of these articles than they have to prohibit or license their importation. But aside from the illegality of these proceedings, they are impolitic. They are begun at the wrong end. The States, no doubt, have a right to prescribe the food their citizens shall eat, the clothes they shall wear—the beverage they shall drink—the creed they shall believe. Now, my proposition is, that the Legislature shall pass a law prohibiting any man, woman or child, from drinking any of the ardent or fermented liquors, except he, she, or they have a license therefor. I would grant separate licenses for drinking the ardent, for wine, specifying the kinds—for cider and beer, unless it was very small beer—Adam's ale I would let go gratis. These licenses should specify the quantity and kind to be drank by each individual licensed, and the price of the license should be in proportion to the quantity and value of the crittur swallowed. I would not charge, because it would not be just, as much for a license to drink daily a three-center of white-face, as I would for a license to drink daily a bottle of strong old L. P. or a can of Chateau Margeaux. My plan, Mr Greene, is an excellent one—it is a legal and peaceable remedy for existing evils—it is equitable in its principles—would be salutary in its influences—and would supersede the necessity of any direct taxation—for the temperance people would add to their already numerous and patriotic labors, that of replenishing the treasury.

Do, friend Greene, aid me in my benevolent labors, by contriving to communicate my proposition to the Great and General Court, and then I shall have no doubt of its immediate adoption.

A REAL TEMPERANCE MAN.

CONGRESS.

The Senate were occupied on Friday in discussing Mr Benton's resolution, proposing to expunge from the Journal the Senate's vote of the last session censuring the President.

In the House of Representatives, the Fortification Bill, the Harbor Bill, and the Bill for establishing certain branches of the United States Mint were reported, the two former with amendments. Towards evening the Harbor Bill was passed by a vote of 109 yeas to 65 nays.

Relations with France.—Mr Cambreleng, from the Committee on Foreign Relations, made the following report, which was read:—

"The Committee on Foreign Affairs, to which was referred so much of the President's Message as concerns our political relations with France, and the correspondence between the ministers of the two governments, submit the following report:—

"At an early part of the session the Committee took into consideration the question of authorizing reprisals, and continued from time to time to discuss various motions and resolutions, submitted by its different members. They could, however, concur in no proposition; and, in that condition, a majority deemed it expedient to postpone their decision till further intelligence should be received from France. The Committee had, within the week past, twice instructed their chairman to report resolutions, but the arrival of additional intelligence caused a suspension of these reports until an official communication should be received from the Executive. That communication places the relations between the two countries in a novel and interesting position.—While there is satisfactory evidence that the French Government earnestly desires that the appropriation for indemnity should be made in pursuance of the stipulation of the treaty; and while there is reason to hope that the Chamber of Deputies will adopt that measure, and faithfully discharge the obligations of France to the United States; it is on the other hand, to be feared that the conduct of that Government, has placed us in a position at least embarrassing, even should it not produce an entire suspension of diplomatic intercourse between the two nations. In this new position of our relations, it is deemed expedient to dispense with further discussion on the subject of non-intercourse with, and reprisals on the commerce of France, to which the attention of the Committee had been directed, and to leave the question of our political relations with that Government to the next Congress, whose action will no doubt be governed by the course which France may deem it expedient to pursue. We are not yet informed what may have been the decision of the King of the French as to the dismissal of our minister, nor can we conjecture what may be the fate of the appropriation in the Chamber of Deputies.

"While the Committee is unwilling to anticipate any but an amicable and favorable result in both cases, it must be recollected that the King and Chamber may decide adversely to the interests and harmony of the two Nations. Such a decision on the part of France, however it may be regretted by the people of both countries, who have great and growing interests, commercial and political, to cherish, may lead to a result upon which the Committee while in doubt, and while a hope remains, will not enlarge.

"The Committee is, therefore, of opinion, that, at such a crisis, when events may occur which cannot be anticipated, and which may lead to important consequences in our external relations, it would not discharge its duty to the country, if it did not express a firm resolution to insist on the full execution of the Treaty of 1831, and if did not recommend to the House a contingent preparation for any emergency which may grow out of our relations with France previous to the next meeting of Congress. It is a gratifying circumstance that our means are adequate to meet any exigency without recourse to loans or taxes. The bill now before the House authorizing the sale of our stock in the Bank of the United States, would, if adopted, afford all the revenue necessary. The Committee is of opinion that the whole, or a part of the fund to be derived from that source, should be appropriated for the purpose of arming our fortifications, and for making other military and naval preparations for the defence of the country, in case such expenditures should become necessary before the next meeting of Congress.

The committee therefore submits the following resolutions for the consideration of the House:—

Resolved, That it would be incompatible with the rights and honor of the United States, further to negotiate in relation to the treaty entered into by France, on the 4th of July, 1831, and that this House will insist upon its execution, as ratified by both Governments.

Resolved, That the committee on Foreign Affairs be discharged from the further consideration of so much of the President's Message as relates to commercial restrictions, or to reprisals, on the commerce of France.

Resolved, That the contingent preparation ought to be made to meet any emergency growing out of our relations with France."

Mr Edward Everett asked permission of the House to submit the views of the minority of the committee in a report. As it was somewhat long, he would not call for its reading at this time. The minority did not, he said, essentially differ in their views of the subject from the majority—but on one or two points they did not fully concur with the majority, and they had thought it proper to take a more full and historical view of the subject than had been taken by the majority. The report concludes with the following paragraph:—

"Nothing seems left, therefore, in the approaching dissolution of the present Congress, but to consign the whole subject to the consideration of the people at large—(with whom it is still in some degree a matter of novel impression)—to the wisdom of the next Congress, who will have all the information necessary for further action, if, contrary to the expectations of our Minister at Paris, further action should be required—and to the disposal of an overruling Providence. In respectfully submitting these views of the question, the undersigned will only add, as a closing sentiment, that they fully concur in what they believe to be the unanimous opinion of the present Congress, that the Treaty of the 4th of July, 1831, should be maintained, and its execution insisted on, at all hazards, and such, they doubt not, is the sense of the whole country."

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.

In the House sundry petitions and memorials presented, and among others was presented the memorial of Mary Rand and 2964 others, ladies of Lowell, praying for a repeal of the License Laws. This memorial was laid on the table, and the House, by vote of 105 to 182, refused to print it.

Mr Rantoul of Gloucester presented the petition of Charles Treadwell and many other merchants of Salem, praying for the repeal of the act in restraint of unincorporated Banking Associations. The same gentleman submitted the following order: That the officers of the several Banks and Insurance Companies in the Commonwealth, be directed, as speedily as may be, to make returns to the Speaker of this House, of the names and places of residence of all the stockholders, directors, and other officers in said institutions, at the date of the respective returns; the amount of stock owned, or in the names of the said directors and other officers, and the amount of their liabilities or loans from the respective companies to which the said directors and other officers may belong, together with the salaries or compensations paid to all persons in the employment of said companies.

Mr Rantoul also submitted an order, That the President and Directors of the Boston Insurance Companies, and all other Insurance Companies in the Commonwealth, respectively, within the period of thirty days from the date of this order, transmit to this Legislature a statement of the affairs of said several Companies, and submit themselves to an examination concerning the same, in conformity to the provisions of the 6th section of the "act to define the powers, duties and restrictions of Insurance Companies." And that in said statements, the several companies make particular return of the whole number of, and total value of property insured in, the amount of premiums on said policies, the banks in which their capital stock is invested, and how distributed, the amount of their loans on respondentia and bottomry, and on bank stock and mortgages, the amount of all their semi-annual and other dividends of profit, and a full statement of all their dealings in the purchase and sale of stocks for three years from the first of January last, retrospectively, together with the total amount of marine risks pending at each office, at the date of their respective returns. Severally laid on the table, and ordered to be printed.

Sundry bills passed to be enacted.

The consideration of the Pauper Bill was resumed, and a discussion thereon continued till the House adjourned.

In the Senate, Mr Dexter for the committee, reported a letter on the communication received yesterday from Gov. Davis, and expressive of the sense of the Senate on the subject of his resignation, and acceptation of the office of Senator to Congress.

On motion, the letter was unanimously adopted, and the Clerk was charged to transmit the same.

Sundry Bills passed to be enacted in concurrence.—Also, sundry Bills passed to be engrossed, and sent down.—Trans.

Republication of the London, Edinburgh, Westminster, and Foreign Quarterly Review—E. R. Broaders, Boston. This is one of the greatest wonders even of this age of cheapness. These Reviews cost fifty dollars per annum to import, and the two first, which were re-printed in Boston, were put at five dollars each. Now, the whole four are afforded for eight dollars per annum, being a reduction of more than one half on the former prices. Nor is this reduction gained at the expense of the eye-sight of readers. The type is large and clear, the paper good, and the getting up every way creditable.

From these Reviews can be gathered, probably, better than from any other source of the same extent and accessibility, the varying shades which make up the political and intellectual character of England and of Europe. The London Quarterly is the well known organ of the Tory or Conservative party; the Edinburgh, of the Whig party, equally aristocratic as the former in its feelings and habits, but less so in its principles; the Westminster, edited by Dr Bowring, exhibits the views of the true revolutionary party—a party, which though as yet weak in the legislature, is nevertheless strong among the mass of the people, and has suggested many beneficial measures, which the aristocratic factions were obliged after a while to adopt. The Foreign Quarterly was instituted principally as a literary publication, with a view of bringing its readers acquainted with the books and literary men of the continent; to the pursuit of this object it has very successfully adhered, with the exception of a few well written political articles on the liberal side. The leading article of the last number (just published) is a beautifully written sketch of the life and works of the far-famed Cuvier, the builder-up, if not the founder, of the science of geology—the great natural historian of the "world before the flood."—Franklin Mercury.

WILLIAM VANS'S FABRICATED CERTIFICATES—Simultaneously with my last article on this subject, appeared one in the Gazette, intended, I presume, for a defence under the signature of David L. Child, Esq. To the complaint of personal injustice done to Mr Child by me, I can only say, that were I sensible of any justice in the complaint, I should not merely regret the circumstance extremely but should at once tender the most ample and public apologies. I simply stated the facts, as they appear in the published deposition and the magistrate's certificate, which facts Mr Child does not deny, and which seemed to me in no way to implicate him. But the inference, he thinks, "is that the old gentleman's counsel has abandoned him, and given up the cause." This is Mr Child's inference, not mine. I am not aware that any person but Mr Child, has so inferred; though I have heard that some think it high time for him to abandon a cause bottomed on his client's misrepresentation, and built up by his client's falsehood, fabrication and fraud. Of this he must judge. Sure I am that no man will charge Mr Child with want of fidelity to his clients, or with abandoning any cause prematurely.

With respect to his client's FABRICATED CERTIFICATES, Mr Child leaves the case precisely where he found it;—nor is it in the power of mortal man to extricate William Vans from the necessary consequences of his own misdeeds. Of these I have as yet furnished only a specimen.

Perhaps Mr Child would have spared his suggestions respecting the supposed reference by Messrs Blake and Davis to the matter of Mr Vans's preamble, had he first seen the letters of those gentlemen, published on the same day with his own communication. Perhaps he would not have made the argument he has, (as good as the case would bear,) respecting the error which he supposes Mr Peabody to have committed in writing any thing, however guarded, on the opposite page even, (which was the fact,) of the same sheet which bears the marks of William Vans, if he had first known that I was prepared to state upon Mr Peabody's assurance, that he had peremptorily refused to sanction the statement contained in Mr Vans's hand writing. This point I desire to place beyond all controversy;—for I wish the public to perceive that when I make statements it is not without evidence before me. I therefore now publish a letter in my possession from Mr Peabody, written shortly after the letters from Messrs Blake and Davis, and very near the time when his and their certificates were made

MR PEABODY'S LETTER.

Boston, March 3, 1828.

STEPHEN CODMAN, Esq.

Sir—On the 25th of February I received your note on the subject of the conversation we had when we accidentally met in the morning of that day.

I have taken some pains to ascertain what I once knew concerning the documents of Mr Vans alluded to. I remember that many years since, I believe from 13 to 15 years ago, I went several times with Mr Vans before a legislative committee, where, on one occasion at least, I met you. Mr Vans produced two notes of RICHARD CODMAN, and a JUDGMENT. The papers were examined by myself, and the legislative committee;—and no doubt was left on my mind, and I believed that no doubt remained on the minds of the committee, or the persons present who were opposed to Mr Vans, that the said papers were what they purported to be.

Mr Vans recently called on me with a request to sign a certificate—the same I presume a copy whereof is in your note to me. I told him I would NOT SIGN IT, BECAUSE I did not know that all the allegations in it were TRUE. He then requested me to certify SUCH OF THE THE FACTS AS I DID know to be true; and in compliance with his request I wrote and signed a certificate that I had no doubt but the papers alluded to were GENUINE. And I cheerfully state that I not only intended to confine my certificate to the facts stated IN MY OWN HANDWRITING which immediately preceded my signature, but that I TOLD Mr VANS that I could NOT sign the certificate he presented BECAUSE IT STATED WHAT I DID NOT KNOW TO BE TRUE.

I am respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
AUGUSTUS PEABODY.

Now let me meet Mr Child on his own ground, and admit, for argument's sake, that it was a great error and grievous oversight on the part of Mr Peabody and the other gentlemen to have touched any thing, unprofessionally, that had been contaminated by William Vans, or to have trusted in any way the use of their names to his fraudulent keeping. But says Mr Child "if Mr Peabody did not mean to connect himself with the preceding statements, it was certainly his own error; for which the OLD GENTLEMAN [for so his own counsel calls William Vans] is in no way responsible UNLESS he has wilfully and corruptly misrepresented." I put it to the public then and to Mr Child himself, whether under the circumstances now disclosed, if Mr Peabody's statement be true, (and none but William Vans will question it) I put it to them and him, whether man can conceive of any more WILFUL and CORRUPT misrepresentation than this.—Mr Vans goes a supplicant for a favor to gentlemen disposed to befriend him—his former counsel—gentlemen, all of whom he had deceived at some time, as he has others at other times, by misrepresentation of the facts of his case—and solicits their names to a paper which he presents. All refuse to sign because the facts therein stated are NOT TRUE. He then urges them to certify such facts to aid him as they can consistently with truth. At last they yield to this importunity. And then what does he?—Why thereupon, this practised and veteran deceiver, whose ingratitude is as base as his dishonesty, puts forth a pamphlet publicly exhibiting the names of these very friends as having certified to those very falsehoods which they had POSITIVELY REFUSED TO CERTIFY, and he distributes this FABRICATION among the Representatives of the People whom he is petioning for redress, AS EVIDENCE of the truth and justice of his claim against the heirs of John Codman WHOSE PROPERTY he is seeking to rob them of THROUGH THIS MEANS!!! Is this by MISTAKE?—Or is it WILFUL?—Is it honest error?—Or is it CORRUPTION?

Mr Child's article in the Gazette, instead of defending his client, (who is utterly and hopelessly indefensible) in fact only republishes the evidence of his client's fabrications and fraud, when he publishes a true copy of the document which his client has heretofore falsified in every material point.—Each one of the other certificates, as well as that of Mr Peabody, has been materially altered, as may be seen by any one who will take the pains to compare the present edition by Mr Child with the former edition by Mr Vans, republished in my advertisement of the 17th Feb. So habituated is this man to falsehood and fabrication for the wicked purpose of advancing his piratical claim against the estate of John Codman, that he could not even publish his own false preamble, the work of his own hand, without improving it a little by material alteration.

In a Pamphlet expressly addressed to the "Representatives of the People," and industriously distributed among them, Mr Vans says—"I place before YOU, REPRESENTATIVES, the certificates of Augustus Peabody, George Blake, District Attorney, and Daniel Davis, Solicitor General, who certify as FOLLOWS:—

WE THE UNDERSIGNED have seen obligations payable to order and judgment condemning John and Richard Codman, as copartners in Paris to deliver William Vans 45,513 francs Rents per year, that amounted in 1830 to about 580,140 dollars. IN WITNESS WHEREOF we have SIGNED THIS INSTRUMENT this 4th of Feb. 1830."

And under this he publishes false certificates with FABRICATED SIGNATURES—thus making all the abovenamed gentlemen, BY THEIR SIGNATURES, expressly affirm the material falsehoods which he had printed above, with a direct and pointed reference to the signatures below in attestation of the truth of those falsehoods.

Now compare this publicaton by William Vans with the true copy published by Mr Child. The date differs by two years! The amount spoken of differs by over $30,000!! The language in many respects is widely dissimilar. But the fraud—THE GREAT FRAUD—lies here;—namely, that whereas in the original, as all may now see by Mr Child's printed copy, Messrs Blake and Davis did NOT affix their SIGNATURES, which was the precise and only act by which according to the terms of the paper its contents were to be adopted;—and whereas Mr Peabody when he puts his signature expressly guards it by special limitation from all reference to what had gone before yet Mr Vans, in his publication of this document wilfully destroys that limitation by fraudulently inserting into the body of Mr Peabody's certificate words which Mr Peabody never wrote, viz: the words "condemning John and Richard Codman," and fraudulently affixes the printed signatures of Messrs Blake and Davis when they had never written them, and thus connects their falsified certificates with the words "In witness whereof we have signed," &c.—thereby converting their certificates, which as drawn were harmless and true, into pestilent vehicles of a gross, material, fraudulent, and now twice ADMITTED falsehood.

I say ADMITTED!—For Mr Child himself referring in his late advertisement to the former admissions of his own pamphlet, admits anew that Mr Vans possesses no judgment against John and Richard Codman. Mr Child asks indeed why the heirs of John Codman do not publish a translation which is in their possession of what he calls the judgment? I answer it is in the press! Will Mr Child never learn by experience so far to temper his zeal as to argue upon the evidence and upon facts which he knows to exist? Here he gratuitously and erroneously, without inquiry ASSUMES as a fact that the heirs of John Codman will not publish a document which is actually in the press, and then, having so assumed, tauntingly inquires whether their reason for not publishing it is "because the document, although different in form, differs not much in effect from Mr Vans' representations, and would confirm rather than refute his statements." I answer that they rely upon it to refute those statements—and that when published it will be found to differ as broadly from the *mis*statements which have been made of it, as light from darkness—or as Vans from truth.

"It is singular," says Mr Child, "that the counsel for the Respondents should leave the authentic and published views of Mr Vans' counsel, to pick up and cut up so sternly Mr Vans' ancient writings." Ancient writings!—Aucient!—Is that the word? Why the Pamphlet out of which I have been compelled to "pick up" this garbage of fabrication and fraud, was published in 1832, and Mr Child's own pamphlet (of which I wish to speak with respect) was published in 1833.—Such is the difference of antiquity between them!

And since the counsel for MrVans seems to intimate a challenge to the attack of "his own opinions, founded on an examination of the original sources," as he says, and doubtless at the moment thought, let me caution him to pause before he takes another public step, and reflect what those sources really are—how much of his opinions on matters of fact have been founded upon, or more or less affected by the representations of a client already convicted before the public irredeemably, of falsehood and deceit;—how much upon partial views of evidence, whether genuine or fabricated, produced by and for one side only!

If it be possible that he may have formed an erroneous opinion upon the merits of a case not truly disclosed to him on the one side, nor as yet fully on the other, and the fact should so turn out, he must become sensible at last the dissemiation of such a work as his review, carrying with it the weight of his own name and professional standing, instead of the name of William Vans, has inflicted, unintentionally I hope, a grievous injury. And however ingenious may have been his arguments,however honest his opinions, as expressed in that pamphlet I trust I may not be required by himself to hold up to the public through the daily prints the manifold errors, fallacies, misstatements and gratuities which seem to me to exist there. I sincerely trust, therefore, that he will not needlessly make himself a party further than he has already done;—nor compel me to turn the attack upon him or his works I wish to confine public attention to the case of William Vans—not as has been intimated to his character—if he has a character, let him enjoy it—I shall not say one word to disparage it, otherwise than as matters affecting character have become indissolubly connected with his claim on the heirs of John Codman, and the means he uses to excite unjustly public sympathy for himself, and public indignation against them.

It is suggested, however, that my communications may have been made rather with a view "to create a diversion from the true point of inquiry." Does not Mr Child know me better? Does he not know too, that I have been drawn into the newspapers unavoidably, and against my will? The full length publication of Mr Vans's statement and of Mr Child's argument, under color of an order of notice, compelled me to protest against the measure as unprecedented and injurious. The very first sentence of the Petition so published states that John Codman and Richard Codman were copartners in the transactions with William Vans. This falsehood is the whole foundation of Mr Vans's extravagant pretensions. This at least is the true point of inquiry and this public assertion therefore demanded a public denial—which was made. There it might well have rested. But Mr Vans chose voluntarily to go into the newspapers, and there, by way of proving this fundamental point to reiterate his long repeated falsehood of judgements against John & Richard Codman as copartners in France, bolstering up this falsehood with the further falsehood that he possessed certificates from three distinguished members of the bar that they had seen such judgments. This compelled me to expose his fabrications. Still not content Mr Vans persists in imposing anew upon the public by endeavoring to connect the certificates of those gentlemen with the false matter of his own creation, in what he terms a preamble. This obliged me to expose the new imposition;—and Mr Child, by a repetition of this argument, has now forced me to show that he has been unable, with all his talent, to furnish either an swer, justification or excuse.

Having been thus driven into the newspapers, and engaged reluctantly in a species of warfare which Mr Child says he has no distaste for, but which I freely confess is no more to my liking than it is of my seeking, I shall take care before I leave the newspapers, that William Vans has enough of it;—and that if the public are "diverted" it shall be at the expense of the losing party. I know not whom the anonymous classic of the Legislature may mean to designate by Alcibiades, nor whom by his dog; but if by the latter he means William Vans, since Mr Vans loves to appeal to the people, and chooses to provoke the conflict here, whether at present he may be considered as curtailed or as decapitated, his friends, should any remain to him will have no just cause of complaint, if at the end of the conflict there should not be a hair of him left. At least I propose that the equitable merits of his claim on the estate of John Codman shall no longer be a ground for voluntary contributions from those public spirited citizens, who enable him to carry on this war against private property, thinking they know more of the law and the constitution than all the Judges of the Supreme Judicial Court, and more of the facts of William Vans's case than Legislative committees who have spent weeks in investigating them, and have uniformly and unanimously reported that he had no just claim.

I have now done with Wm. Vans's fabricated certificates.—When he next hears from me it will be on some other point.

W. H. GARDINER,
Counsel for the Heirs of John Codman.

REALITY!

AIKEN'S UNRIVALLED PHILOSOPHICAL SYSTEM OF PENMANSHIP. Taught in the short course of 12 Lessons, one hour each, at the Ladies' and Gentlemen's Writing Academy, Joy's Building, No 81 Washington street, (Room No 19.)

Pupils will be received at various hours during the day and evening, to suit their convenience.

Terms are moderate, and the most complete and satisfactory improvement is guaranteed to every one.

School Masters and Teachers of Penmanship who are desirous of adopting this unrivalled system, will be taught on terms very liberal.

☞ Mr Aiken introduced his system 10 years ago, since then he has taught over 20,000 scholars.

Terms $5 only for a course of lessons—immediate application will be safer than delays.

His Excellency, the President of the United States of America, expressed his opinion on this subject as follows—"I have heard," said he, "much in favor of the American System of Penmanship, as taught by Mr Aiken, and I am of opinion from the very astonishing improvement made in a few hours, that the art is scarcely susceptible of any further improvement."

From the Essex Gazette.

Mr Aiken is a very popular teacher and writes with much facility. The specimens which we have seen, combined with the testimony of some of our friends, satisfy us that a more favorable opportunity for readily acquiring a correct style of Penmanship, rarely presents itself.

From the Dedham Register.

Among the improvements that are continually introduced into our mechanic arts, the improvement in the art of penmanship by Mr Aiken, ought to be mentioned with unqualified approbation. By the assistance of his method, any person however bad his writing, will acquire purity, precision and celerity in a very few lessons.

Besides numerous other gentlemen by whom he comes highly recommended, are the following, all of whom have been his patrons. Rev Daniel Sharp, Rev Wm Jenks, Rev David Boynton, Rev Prince Hawes, Rev Epaphros Kibby, Rev Samuel Dana, Rev Dr Richmond, Joseph Morton Esq, Elisha Ford Esq, Hon Josiah Dunham, Hon John Davis, Charles Thayer, Asaph Churchill Esq. Massachusetts. Hon Samuel Smith, John H. Steel Esq, New-Hampshire. Rev Cornelius Westbrook, Rev Wm Parker, New York. Hon Daniel Lowery, Hon James Smith, New Jersey. eopis2m*—f 3

COMMERCIAL EDUCATION.

B. F. FOSTER, ACCOUNTANT, 116 Washington st, continues to give Lessons in WRITING and BOOK-KEEPING, upon the most improved plans.

YOUNG GENTLEMEN are qualified for mercantile situations, in a superior and expeditious manner—their attention being exclusively directed to practical utility.

CURRENT HAND WRITING.

Mr FOSTER's method of instruction is so simple and effective as to eradicate the most irregular scrawl, and to substitute a neat, rapid and beautiful style of writing.

This establishment is intended as a nursery for penmanship on undisputed principles; and as a barrier against the encroachment of depraved taste and assumed talent, so frequently pressed upon the notice of the public.

Hours of instruction from 7 to 12, A. M.; 2 to 5, P. M.; and 7 to 10 o'clock, in the evening.

BOOK-KEEPING.

In this art an attempt will be made to teach whatever belongs to the well regulated COUNTING HOUSE. Such rules and examples only are retained, as are necessary to elucidate the principles of the art, and give a connected view of the whole; by which book keeping is so simplified that its principles soon become familiar, and their application to every transaction in trade easy.

ACCOUNTANTSHIP.

B. F. F. continues to write up, post, and balance merchants' books—to examine and rectify books or accounts gone into disorder—to solve complicated or disputed accounts—and to furnish plans of books, adapted to any business, arranged by the most simple, concise and approved forms. A regular apprenticeship in an extensive mercantile establishment, and several years' subsequent practice as an accountant and book keeper, he trusts is a sufficient qualification for his undertaking. 3awistf § 20

RODGERS' IMPERIAL STOCKS.

6 Joy's Building, up stairs.

[Opposite the Post Office, Boston.]

WILLIAM H. ROGERS, most respectfully invites the attention of Merchant Tailors and the public generally, to his new invented Imperial Stocks for the Neck, which for ease and elegance very far surpass every thing of the kind hitherto manufactured in this vicinity. They are cut scientifically; the materials and manner of making are quite different from those in common use, and they may be covered many times, and retain exactly the same shape as when first made. W. H. R. requests permission to enumerate the usual faults in the common Stocks, viz. 1st, the very inferior materials used; 2d, their sitting away from the chin and exposing the neck, when disagreeably close at the bottom; 3d, the edge at the top being uncomfortably tight, as to cause a distortion of the features by moving the head; 4th, that of their bulging out at the sides, by moving the head a little downwards, which has a most distasteful appearance. By W. H. Rogers' deservedly admired and extensively patronized invention, all these faults are completely obviated. Naval and military gentlemen will find them the most pleasing and durable. Made to order of any texture, by the dozen or single, at the lowest cash prices. Ladies Riding Stocks beautifully made to order. tf—july 23

MASSACHUSETTS BOTANIC INFIRMARY—N. B. If Sick or Lame. Colds, coughs, chronic complaints, &c &c. cured with the vapor bath and a few roots or herbs, at No 554 Washington street, opposite the Worcester Railroad Office.

Reference: Alpheus Adams, Barnstable—Joseph Converse, Brighton—John H. Young, Lowell—Capt E. Fisk, Sandwich—William Eldrige, Harwich—Robert Schouler, West Cambridge—Henry N. Carpenter, Goshen, N. H.—Moses Nelson, Sutton N. H.—P. G. Sheldon, New York—Samuel Cleaveland, New Orleans.

Together with 1400 others, principally of this city, one of which was relieved in seven hours and cured in six days of brain fever or cold and delirium, after his physician had given him up to die, and said he could not live six hours.

Another, a child sick with the croup, given over as incurable by one of the celebrated regular diplomized physicians, and thought to be dying before I saw it, relieved in fifteen minutes well enough to ride out in three days, and recovered entirely in a short time.

Another—a gentleman who had been confined to his bed for some time, with the rheumatism—relieved so as to be able to walk, in twenty-four hours, and entirely recovered in a few weeks.

Another, of the same complaint, cured in one week, after having previously been confined to his room for four months, with the same complaint, when under the fashionable mercurial blistering practice.

Another—a lady, with severe palpitation of the heart, so much relieved in one day as to regain her health in a few weeks, by using the simple medicine at her own house.

Another—a lady, who had been sick for a long time, and applied to several physicians, some of whom said she had the liver complaint, some consumption, some dyspepsia, others general debility, all of whom I think told the truth, so much relieved in one month, as to be able to sit up all day and do some work, and now enjoys comfortable health.

I might continue this list till I should weary the reader's patience with numerous cures of all curable complaints which flesh is heir to, but shall close with a general invitation to all, both sick and well, to call and see for themselves, and if they are not fully satisfied that the Botanic System of Medicine is both safe and salutary, they will be referred to any of the above persons, who are convinced from experience, that

"The simple herbs beneath our feet,
WELL US'D, relieve our pains complete."

POSITIVE, OR NO PAY.—Mrs. Hill's Cough Drops, or Vegetable Health Restorative.—Prepared entirely from Vegetables.

More than forty years have now elapsed since the receipt was given me by my uncle, a celebrated Physician, at a time that I was troubled with a very bad cough and cold. After taking one dose, I found immediate relief, and a few doses cured me entirely; the effects were astonishing quick, and the numerous instances of the wonderful efficacy of these drops on different people, has induced me to put them up in Phials, with directions, under the impression it would be a public benefit. And as that is my sole aim—and to convince the public that is all, and as a sure guarantee against quackery and deception, I authorise my agents to return the money to all those that do not get relief by their returning the bottle and directions. The relief and absolute cure, particularly of these numerous and complicated disorders arising from neglected colds, is amply attested by the acknowledged approbation of those who are now restored to perfect health, as well as many in the decline of life who frankly acknowledge having received great relief from the use of them in the following diseases, viz—Coughs, colds, asthma, spitting of blood, hooping cough, difficulty of breathing, influenza, quinsea, phthisic, croup, and all disorders arising from colds. Price 37½ cents per bottle.

DR. CERLIEU'S CELEBRATED OINTMENT—A sovereign remedy for the Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Leprosy and all other Cutaneous complaints. These dreaded diseases, which are met with so much reluctance by the physician and in which he is so universally unsuccessful, have at length found a certain remedy in Dr Cerlieu's Ointment. This article has stood the test of experience and justly gained unexampled celebrity. It has in three or four weeks cured cases of more than thirty years standing, which baffled the art of the most experienced physicians and resisted the power of every other remedy that could be devised. It immediately removes the scab of the skin, and restores its original color and smoothness.

DYSPEPSIA CURABLE BY GALVANIC ELECTRICITY.—DYSPEPSIA—accompanied by constipation, vertigo, painful sensations in the head and eyes, flatulence, or wind, unnatural distension of the abdomen or stomach, attended with hardness, some of the affections of the liver and spine—and in some cases difficulty in breathing, falling of the womb, diseases of the vagina and hæmmorhoids or piles—has been removed, together with these consequent or concomitant affections, solely by the aid of appropriate apparatus, recently constructed by the undersigned for the excitation of Galvanic Electricity in the system.

Instruments suitable for this purpose are so small and compact that they may be carried in the pocket; and so mild in their operation, and so simple in their construction, that children can use them as well as adults: and in many cases of disease they may be used simultaneously with other remedies.

The ratio of cure and alleviation of that form of Dyspepsia which is attended with constipation &c, has been from this remedy alone, (medicine by way of the mouth and stomach entirely discontinued,) three to four in every five cases, as far as known to the inventor of the Galvanic Apparatus.

Instruments, with directions for their proper application, and other information relative to the beneficial effects derivable from this first of curative means may be obtained of

JOSEPH M. SMITH, 138 Washington st.
Agent for DANIEL HARRINGTON, Patentee,
S. E. corner of Arch and 6th st. Philadelphia.

The following certificates of cure and relief, are a few of the whole number that have been given, and that might be obtained from sources of the first respectability.

The Galvanic Apparatus, invented by Daniel Harrington, of this city, for the cure of disease, is familiarly known to us. By its aid, under Providence, we have been enabled to exchange annoying disease for comfortable health. Dyspepsia, accompanied by constipation, that in our cases had resisted other remedies for years, soon yielded to this novel mode of cure, and in the course of a few weeks, our expectations were more than realized. Judging from our own experience, we are of opinion that this useful apparatus will be found innocent, where it may not prove more or less efficacious, and that it may be safely intrusted to any hands. With us its application has not been attended with any painful inconvenience at all; nor did we find it necessary to observe, for the time being, any rigid restrictions touching diet. That there are many thousands of suffering invalids in this country, who could as readily exchange disease for health, by this new mode of cure, as we have been enabled to do, we cannot for a moment doubt.

JOHN S. RIDDLE,
ELIAKIM LITTELL,
Philadelphia. JOHN JEMISON.

Being myself afflicted with the inconvenience and disease incident to a confined state of the bowels, I was induced to use Mr Harrington's Galvanic Apparatus, from which I have found the most effectual relief. I therefore cheerfully recommend it to all persons laboring under similar affections.

Philadelphia. WM. T. BRANTLY.

We have been using the Galvanic Instruments, invented by Mr Daniel Harrington of this city, for a disordered condition of the digestive organs of long standing, accompanied by obstinate constipation, a confuse state of the head, and by general debility; and we have experienced that degree of relief that has enabled us to relinquish medicine by way of the mouth, finding the new remedy preferable—and we believe that by its aid we are gradually gaining health and strength, which was not the case previous to our using it. The application has involved neither pain or risk with us.

Philadelphia. JOSEPH WALRAVEN.

NEW APOTHECARY'S SHOP—By E. SMITH' No 54 High street, Boston.

The above establishment is new—being the only one in Boston, if not in the whole country where there is not an article of poison kept, either mineral or vegetable, under the name of medicine. The proprietor has tried the experiment of administering vegetable medicines only, for about seventeen years, and has succeeded beyond what was at first contemplated.

The present patronage encourages the proprietor to continue preparing and vending such simple and compound medicines, as are the most certain to relieve the sick and lame.

In connection with the above establishment is a large and convenient "HOSPITAL AND BOARDING HOUSE," where the sick and lame may resort to obtain relief, on reasonable terms, where are skilful physicians, and attentive and experienced nurses.

The following are among the many compounds, kept constantly for sale:—Vegetable Powders—Hygien Compound—for colds, costiveness &c. American Hygien Pills—for headache, pain in the stomach and bowels, stranguary and piles. PeachCordial—useful to regulate and increase the appetite, help digestion &c. Health Restorative—for obstructions in the liver and kidneys, dispepsia, stranguary, and female complaints in general. Vegetable Improved Elixir—excellent for removing pain in the stomach and bowels, and rheumatic complaints. Bitters—to help digestion and regulate the stomach and bowels. Botanic Ointment—a certain cure for humors, corns, rheumatic complaints, chilblains, chapped hands, weakness and pain in the back, cuts and burns. Olive Ointment—very useful for salt rheum, leprosy &c. Salve—for sores. Tooth Wash—for cleansing the mouth and teeth, and for taking canker from the mouth. Tooth Powders—to remove scurvey. Cephalic Snuff—for removing cold and pain in the head, and pain in the eyes. Cough Powders—excellent for cold in the throat and whooping cough. Cough Drops—for difficulty in the throat, coughs and colds. Nerve Drops—for calming the system, causing easy and refreshing sleep. Eye Water—for sore or inflamed eyes, &c. Worm Syrup—suitable for children troubled with worms. Itch Ointment—a certain cure, without changing the clothes, and without any disagreeable smell. Catholicon—useful in consumptive cases. Cancer Plaster—useful for cancers and canker sores. Lip Salve—very useful. Cathartic Drops—for costiveness, a certain cure.

The following are some of the simples for sale: Pennyroyal Catmint—Motherwort—Tanzy—Wormwood—Mint—Balm—Comphrey—Elicampaine—Liverwort—Beth root—Gold thread—Bugle—Pond Lily root—Sasafras—Sarsaparilla—Dock root—Lobelia, herb and seed—Slippery Elm, coarse, fine and superfine—Bayberry bark, coarse and fine—Poplar bark, coarse and fine—Sumac berries and leaves—Thoroughwort—Raspberry leaves—American Cayenne—African Cayenne—West India Cayenne, in pods and fine, by the bottle or pound—Pure ground Ginger—Bitter Root—Golden Seal—Nerve Powder—Mullen Seed—Burdock Seed—Skunk Cabbage—Snakeroot—Spikenard—Mountain Ash—Prickley Ash—Peach meats—Elder Flowers—Calamint—Saffron—Wild Solomon Seal—Camomile herbs and flowers—Yellow Dock root—Sage—Arrow root—Oatmeal—Cherry bark—Extract of Butternut, Clover, Dandalion, Plantain, &c.—Syringes, large and small.

BURNS AND SCALDS.

A POSITIVE CURE.

ANTI-PHLOGISTIC PASTE, for Burns and Scalds, Erysipelas and Phlegmonous Inflammation, St Anthony's Fire, Erythema, Shingles, Stings and bites of Insects, Inflamed Blisters, Vegetable Poisons, Chapped Hands, &c.—Fever Sores, (Necrosis) Biles, Inflamed Breasts, Whitlow, Abscesses, Carbuncles, Gangrene, &c.; Sore Legs, Ulcers of every description, Schirrous Tumors and Glands Bruises and Sprains—Fractures, Contused and Lacerated Wounds—every grade of Gunshot Wounds. It is sure to give immediate relief, and a healthy action to the living parts, and we can hardly conceive of a fracture or wound so bad as to cause death, or need amputation, if the Paste be timely and properly applied. All inflammations of a specific character, as Scrofulous Tumors, Glands, Ulcers, and Abscseses—White Swellings, and Inflamed Joints, from any cause.

Scrofulous Humors, and every other species of Eruptions, as Salt Rheum, Herpes, Scalded head, Ringworm, Pimpled Face and Blotches. It is a specific for the Piles, giving immediate relief. Local Syphilitic Inflammation it is sure to remove, and prevent suppuration in the worst cases.

In all the above diseases the Paste has but one action, which is the removal of heat, pain, swelling, and more or less of fever—when this is done, nature soon finishes the cure, or the diseased parts become well simultaneously. It needs no certificates—use it, and you will know more of it than can be told you.

Sold wholesale and retail by TROTT & CO. 128 State street, Boston, and by Druggists in the city generally. Also, by B. F. Brown, Salem, Mass.—J. A. Wadsworth, Providence, R. I.—John H. Wheeler, Dover, N. H.—A. & T. Hall, Keene, N. H. Asa B. Foster Weston, Vt. and J. Hubbard, Lowell, Mass.

STRENGTHENING PLASTER.—KENSITT'S celebrated Strengthning Plaster for pain or weakness in the breast, back, or side. Also for Rheumatic affection, Liver complaints and Dyspepsia. This medicine is the invention of an eminent Surgeon, and so numerous are the instances in which the most salutary effects have been produced by it, that it is with the utmost confidence recommended to all those afflicted with these distressing complaints. The sale of this remedy commenced in the city of New York, in 1827, and the sales there have been extensive. It affords the proprietor great pleasure in stating, that out of these numerous sales scarce any instance has occurred where relief was not obtained in cases where this medicine was recommended. This Plaster produces no disagreeable sensations, and may be worn without inconvenience at all times. For sale by A. GEYER, Apothecary, 104 Hanover street, corner of Salem street. Price 50 cents.

FARE REDUCED—TO PROVIDENCE.

UNRIVALLED EXPEDITION!

By Rail Road Cars and U. S. Mail Coaches.

THE TREMONT LINE, in conjunction with the Rail Road, is now prepared to convey to and from Providence, all passengers who may wish to avail themselves of this safe, elegant and expeditious conveyance.

The superiority of this route over all others, will appear obvious on a moment's reflection. The fact that passengers who leave Boston at 7 A. M. arrive in Providence as soon as those who leave two hours earlier—at 5, and stop to breakfast on the road—seems necessary only to be known, to induce all passengers to secure seats in the Rail Road Line.

Cars leave depot, foot of the Common, every day at 7 A. M. to meet the boats. On Sunday, at 9. Also, at 11 A. M. to Canton, thence by coaches, via Foxboro' the shortest and most level route, to Providence.

Returning, leave Providence on the arrival of the boats, and arrive in Boston in 4 hours.

U. S. Mail Coach leaves as usual at 5 A. M. For seats, be particular and apply at City Tavern, Brattle street, and Washington Coffee House, 158 Washington st.

PURE BEAR'S OIL may be had by the groce, dozen or single bottle, of A. BOYDEN, Hancock-st.

As in all cases, so especially in this, Venders, if they wish to secure the patronage of the public, should be extremely cautious not to sell an article for the Hair which tends to counteract rather than assist nature,

The virtues of Bear's Oil have been too long tested to need any eulogium; and at this time no one can doubt of its being the very best article for strengthening and promoting the growth of the Hair. An honest prejudice against the use of Bear's Oil has long existed, arising from two causes—the improper method of purifying it, and the imposition upon the public of a spurious article. That this prejudice may be wholly removed, this article now offered is warranted the pure Oil, rendered more pleasant by the addition of a little perfume—and the possibility of its injuring the Hair is entirely precluded by the manner in which it has been purified. To prevent fraud, the genuine is enclosed in two wrappers, the inside one being signed Arnold Boyden. aug 15

VIEW OF LOWELL.—A correct and beautiful View of the town of Lowell, with references, designating the different Companies, for sale by the dozen or single, by JAS. B. DOW, 362 Washington st, South End.

From the Lowell Journal and Bulletin.

VIEW OF LOWELL, taken from the house of Elisha Fuller, Esq. in Dracut, by Miss E A. Farrar.—This View of Lowell is unusually correct, and is executed in a very neat manner by Pendleton. A person has a fairer view of this town from Mr Fuller's house than from any other place in the vicinity. The factories make a splendid appearance from that eminence, as indeed all the other principal buildings do. The print to which we have alluded is beautiful, and an ornament to any room in which it is suspended. f 20
